sources, and those who are not obliged to sell have every incentive to keep their offerings off the market, in view inducement to operators to accumulate stocks for speculative purposes, as doubt and uncertainty over the future course of values offer no assurance of profits on the operation. The market is practically deadlocked in consequence. While money resources are abundant, this fact in itself is a cause of anxiety over the business prospects. The enormous accumulations in the re-

quence. While money resources are abundant, this fact in itself is a cause of anxiety over the business prospects. The enormous accumulations in the reserve centers argue a decline in active employment of money in trade. This indication is strengthened by the report of mercantile agencies, which show backward demand in many lines and disinclination to enter on future commitments.

The slack demand for commodities and the lessened output by producers is still attributed in large part to the lateness of the season, the continued cold weather decreasing the demand for merchandise which usually develops with the coming of warm weather. The week's heavy exports of gold, which have reached a record, have not caused a ripple in the money market and no obstruction to the movement by a rise in interest rates is indicated, at present. It is considered, therefore, that practically all of the $40,000,000 payable to the Panama canal stockholders will go out in gold. The same abundance of money resources is found in London, Berlin and Paris and early reduction in the discount rate of the Imperial bank of Germany is expected. The movement of gold toward Paris, in view of the large resources already at hand there, strengthens the conviction that the issue of the large Russian loan there is imminent. The securities market in London has fared rather better than our own by reason of the retaxing of the money rates, and has also shown a good investment demand for the large gold export, in connection with the Panama payment and the indifference felt toward it, is in strong contrast with the nervousness displayed at the time the payment was also larged and the proposed are strong the money market and no has shown no desire, however, to buy American securities market in London has shown no desire, however, to buy American securities market in London has shown no desire, however, to buy American securities market in London has shown no desire, however, to buy American securities market in London has shown no desire, however, to buy Am ties. WHEAT AND FLOUR ARE STILL DEAR

Utah Products Are Coming to the Front, Vegetables Becoming Cheaper.

Grain dealers do not seem to be in any of its small power of absorption. At the same time the abundant facilities in the money market have proved no cents, effective yesterday, in the freight hurry to come down on the price of wheat grain districts. Probably a good many of them have a lot of high-priced wheat on their hands and do not intend to lower any sooner than they have to, but that time ought to come soon. The bottom price of wheat, which was $1.10, has been

The bank statement for the week again broke all previous records for grand total of loans and deposits, loans now aggregating $1.09.025,300, with deposits of $1.114.307,300.

The Financier says: "Notwithstanding the export during last week of more than $12,759,000 of gold to Paris, the official statement for the week of the New York Associated banks showed a net increase of $188,500 cash, and the surplus reserve was reduced by only a little more than $1,000,000. Even under the average system of the clearing-house banks the shipments of gold for the week should, it would seem, have shown a loss of nearly $3,500,000 calling for the whole of that amount, because the withdrawals were made early in the bank week: Thursday's export of $2,225,000 for one-half of this sum, and Saturday's export of nearly $4,000,000 for one-sixth of the amount, the total of these averages making $8,550,000 as above. Inasmuch as the remainder of the amount of exports, $4,250,000, was carried over under the average system into the current week, the statement was clearly made on largely declining averages for cash.

"Loans were expanded through corporation borrowing by $3,246,500, carrying this item to a new higher record. Cash increased $188,300 net, the specie decreusing $61,000 and legal tenders being augmented by $1,149,000. It may be noted that the reports which were based on the traccable movements of money during the week, exclusive of Saturday's shipments of gold to actual change in cash.

"Deposits also showed a net high record in an increase of $4,995,400, or $1,558,000 more than the amount called for by the sum of the increase in loans and the net gain in cash, consequently the statement did not balance. The required reserve was augmented by $1,248,500 through the increase in deposits, deducting from this sum the net gain in cash left $1,09,350 as the decrease in surplus reserve to $11,144.

Computed upon the basis of deposits less those of $25,252,700 public funds, the surplus is $47,157,425."
